Elevate SAP Solutions with Google Cloud:

Combining the power of Hitachi, Google Cloud and SAP

If your company runs SAP—whether it is SAP Business Suite, SAP S/4HANA, SAP Leonardo or any other SAP solutions—you've made a serious investment in some of the best business solutions on the planet. And while we're speaking on a planetary scale, everyone on the planet knows that the Google Cloud means global reach, world-class security, and mind-blowing innovation. So, it makes sense to shift your SAP solutions to Google Cloud.

How do you begin? What is the risk? How much will it cost? How quickly can you reach full operation? Why Google Cloud?

Quickly Get Your SAP Solutions Up and Running on Google Cloud

Hitachi can help. Our complete SAP offerings cover assessment and migration to analytics, managed services and maintenance optimization—all offered as a service. When you move to Google Cloud with Hitachi, we reduce complexity with an end-to-end solution and streamline the process as a single, dedicated vendor.

With Hitachi guiding your journey, you can access the intelligent analytics, flexible technology and tools you need to create new business models. Connect with your customers in new ways and drive innovation by integrating and leveraging Google Cloud's machine learning and data analytics solutions. Google Cloud also provides automated provisioning of SAP HANA instances to deliver enterprise-grade security, high availability, disaster recovery and scalability.
